

Privacy Policy

We take your privacy very seriously. Please read this privacy policy carefully as it contains important information on who we are and how and why we collect, store, use and share your personal data. It also explains your rights in relation to your personal data and how to contact us or supervisory authorities in the event you have a complaint.

When we use your personal data we are regulated under the General Data Protection Regulation ("GDPR") which applies across the European Union (including in the United Kingdom) and we are responsible as 'controller' of that personal data for the purposes of the GDPR. Our use of your personal data is subject to your instructions, the GDPR, other relevant UK and EU legislation and our professional duty of confidentiality.

Key terms

We, us, our	Lee Bolton Monier-Williams
Personal data	Any information relating to an identified or identifiable individual
Special category personal data	Personal data revealing racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious beliefs, philosophical beliefs or trade union membership Genetic and biometric data Data concerning health, sex life or sexual orientation

Personal data we collect about you

The following sets out the personal data we will or may collect in the course of advising and/or acting for you.

Personal data we will collect:

- Your name, address and telephone number;
- Information to enable us to check and verify your identity, eg your date of birth or passport details;
- Electronic contact details, eg your email address and mobile phone number;
- Information relating to the matter in which you are seeking our advice or representation;
- Your financial details so far as relevant to your instructions, eg the source of your funds if you are instructing on a purchase transaction; and

- Information about your use of our IT, communication and other systems, and other.

Personal data we may collect depending on why you have instructed us:

- Your National Insurance and tax details;
- Your bank and/or building society details;
- Details of your professional online presence, e.g. LinkedIn profile;
- Details of your spouse/partner and dependants or other family members, eg if you instruct us on a family matter or a Will;
- Your employment status and details including salary and benefits, eg if you instruct us on matter related to your employment or in which your employment status or income is relevant and your employment records if we are instructed in an employment matter (which may include relevant special category personal data);
- Your nationality and immigration status and information from related documents, such as your passport or other identification, and immigration information, eg if you instruct us on an immigration matter; and
- Personal identifying information, such as your eye colour or your parents' names, eg if you instruct us to incorporate a company for you.

This personal data is required to enable us to provide our service to you. If you do not provide personal data we ask for, it may delay or prevent us from providing services to you.

How your personal data is collected

We collect most of this information from you, direct. However, we may also collect information:

- from publicly accessible sources, e.g. Companies House or HM Land Registry;
- directly from a third party, e.g.:
 - credit reference agencies;
 - client due diligence providers;
 - other professional services firms;
- from a third party with your consent, e.g.:
 - your bank or building society, another financial institution or advisor;
 - consultants and other professionals we may engage in relation to your matter;
 - your employer and/or trade union, professional body or pension administrators;

- your doctors, medical and occupational health professionals;
- property agents;
- via our website:
 - we use cookies on our website (for more information on cookies, please see our cookies policy (http://www.lbmw.com/site/help/privacy_help.html));
 - we also use Google Analytics to monitor how our website is being used so we can make improvements. Our use of Google Analytics requires us to pass to Google your IP address (but no other information) - Google uses this information to prepare site usage reports for us, but Google may also share this information with other Google services. In particular, Google may use the data collected to contextualize and personalize the ads of its own advertising network. For related information, please see Google Privacy Policy and Google Partner Sites;
 - personal data we collect via our website may be stored by the website for a period of up to 90 days after which time it is removed automatically.

How and why we use your personal data

Under data protection laws, we can only use your personal data if we have a proper reason for doing so, e.g.:

- to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations;
- for the performance of our contract with you or to take steps at your request before entering into a contract;
- for our legitimate interests or those of a third party; or
- where you have given consent.

A legitimate interest is when we have a business or commercial reason to use your information, so long as this is not overridden by your own rights and interests.

The table below explains what we use (process) your personal data for and our reasons for doing so:

What we use your personal data for	Our reasons
To provide legal services to you	For the performance of our contract with you or to take steps at your request before entering into a contract
Conducting checks to identify our clients and verify their identity Other processing necessary to comply with professional, legal and regulatory obligations	To comply with our legal and regulatory obligations

What we use your personal data for	Our reasons
that apply to our business, eg under health and safety regulation or rules issued by our professional regulator
Gathering and providing information required by or relating to audits, enquiries or investigations by regulatory bodies	To comply with our legal and regulatory obligations
Ensuring business policies are adhered to, eg policies covering security and internet use	For our legitimate interests or those of a third party, ie to make sure we are following our own internal procedures so we can deliver the best service to you
Operational reasons, such as improving efficiency, training and quality control	For our legitimate interests or those of a third party, ie to be as efficient as we can so we can deliver the best service for you at the best price
Statistical analysis to help us manage our practice, eg in relation to our financial performance, client base, work type or other efficiency measures	For our legitimate interests or those of a third party, ie to be as efficient as we can so we can deliver the best service for you at the best price
Preventing unauthorised access and modifications to systems	For our legitimate interests or those of a third party, ie to prevent and detect criminal activity that could be damaging for us and for you To comply with our legal and regulatory obligations
Updating and enhancing client records	For the performance of our contract with you or to take steps at your request before entering into a contract To comply with our legal and regulatory obligations For our legitimate interests or those of a third party, eg making sure that we can keep in touch with our clients about existing and new services

What we use your personal data for	Our reasons
Ensuring safe working practices, staff administration and assessments	To comply with our legal and regulatory obligations For our legitimate interests or those of a third party, eg to make sure we are following our own internal procedures and working efficiently so we can deliver the best service to you
Marketing our services to: —existing and former clients; —third parties who have previously expressed an interest in our services; —third parties with whom we have had no previous dealings.	For our legitimate (ie to promote our business to existing and former clients). Where we wish to send you direct marketing email communications, we will rely on your consent
Credit reference checks via external credit reference agencies.	For our legitimate interests or a those of a third party, (ie for credit control) and to ensure our clients are likely to be able to pay for our service
External audits and quality checks, eg for ISO or Investors in People accreditation and the audit of our accounts	For our legitimate interests or a those of a third party, ie to maintain our accreditations so we can demonstrate we operate at the highest standards To comply with our legal and regulatory obligations

The above table does not apply to special category personal data, which we will only process with your explicit consent.

We will only use your information for the purposes it was given, and not all of the above will apply in each case, but it will have been made clear to you when we collected the information which use or uses to which it will be put, and the information will not be put to any other use without seeking additional consent from you.

Promotional communications

We may use your personal data to send you updates (by email, telephone or post) about legal developments that might be of interest to you and/or information about our services, including exclusive offers, promotions or new services.

If you are an existing client that has signed up to receive promotional material from us, we do require your consent to send you promotional emails as we have a legitimate interest in processing for these purposes.

If you have not previously agreed to receive promotional material from us we will ask for your consent separately and clearly.

We will always treat your personal data with the utmost respect and never sell or share it with other organisations for marketing purposes.

You have the right to opt out of receiving promotional communications at any time by:

- contacting us by e-mail (data@lbmw.com); or
- using the 'unsubscribe' link in emails.

We may ask you to confirm or update your marketing preferences if you instruct us to provide further services in the future, or if there are changes in the law, regulation, or the structure of our business.

Who we share your personal data with

Provided we have a lawful reason for doing so, we may share your personal data with:

- professional advisers who we instruct on your behalf or refer you to, eg barristers, medical professionals, accountants, tax advisors or other experts;
- other third parties where necessary to carry out your instructions, eg your mortgage provider or HM Land Registry in the case of a property transaction or Companies House;
- our insurers and brokers;
- external auditors, eg in relation to ISO accreditation and the audit of our accounts;
- our bank;
- external service suppliers, representatives and agents that we use to make our business more efficient, eg typing services, marketing agencies, document collation or analysis suppliers;

We only allow our service providers to handle your personal data if we are satisfied they take appropriate measures to protect your personal data. We also impose contractual obligations on service providers relating to ensure they can only use your personal data to provide services to us and to you.

We may disclose and exchange information with law enforcement agencies and regulatory bodies to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations.

We may also need to share some personal data with other parties, such as potential buyers of some or all of our business or during a re-structuring. Usually, information will be anonymised but this may not always be possible. The recipient of the information will be bound by confidentiality obligations.

Where your personal data is held

Information may be held at our offices and those of our third party agencies, service providers, representatives and agents as described above (see 'Who we share your personal data with').

Some of these third parties may be based outside the European Economic Area. For more information, including on how we safeguard your personal data when this occurs, see below: 'Transferring your personal data out of the EEA'.

How long your personal data will be kept

We will keep your personal data after we have finished advising or acting for you. We will do so for one of these reasons:

- to respond to any questions, complaints or claims made by you or on your behalf;
- to show that we treated you fairly;
- to keep records required by law.

By law, we have to keep basic information about our customers including Contact, Identity, Financial and Transaction Data for 6 years after they cease being customers for tax purposes. In some circumstances you can ask us to delete your data (please see below section entitled "Your rights").

We will not retain your data for longer than necessary for the purposes set out in this policy. When it is no longer necessary to retain your personal data, we will delete or anonymise it.

Transferring your personal data out of the EEA

To deliver services to you, it is sometimes necessary for us to share your personal data outside the European Economic Area (EEA), eg:

- with your and our service providers located outside the EEA;
- if you are based outside the EEA;
- where there is an international dimension to the matter in which we are advising you.

These transfers are subject to special rules under European and UK data protection law. If we transfer your personal data out of the EEA for our own purposes we will ensure that the method of transfer is appropriately secure.

From time to time we may pass personal data such as your name and email address to other services that we use to send out newsletters and other communications (both electronic and print). However, your personal data will remain in the EU or countries considered by the EU to have equivalent policies such as Jersey, Guernsey, Switzerland, New Zealand and Canada. Companies based in the USA that have certified with the EU-US Privacy Shield programme are also considered to be permitted destinations by the EU (this includes popular US products like Gmail, DropBox and MailChimp).

Your rights

You have the following rights, which you can exercise free of charge:

Access	The right to be provided with a copy of your personal data
Rectification	The right to require us to correct any mistakes in your personal data
To be forgotten	The right to require us to delete your personal data—in certain situations
Restriction of processing	The right to require us to restrict processing of your personal data—in certain circumstances, eg if you contest the accuracy of the data
Data portability	The right to receive the personal data you provided to us, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and/or transmit that data to a third party—in certain situations
To object	The right to object: —at any time to your personal data being processed for direct marketing (including profiling); —in certain other situations to our continued processing of your personal data, eg processing carried out for the purpose of our legitimate interests.
Not to be subject to automated individual decision-making	The right not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated processing (including profiling) that produces legal effects concerning you or similarly significantly affects you

For further information on each of those rights, including the circumstances in which they apply, please contact us or see the guidance from the UK Information Commissioner's Office \(ICO\) on individuals' rights under the General Data Protection Regulation.

If you would like to exercise any of those rights, please:

- email, call or write to see below: 'How to contact us'; and
- let us have enough information to identify you (eg your full name, address and client or matter reference number);
- let us have proof of your identity and address (a copy of your driving licence or passport and a recent utility or credit card bill); and
- let us know what right you want to exercise and the information to which your request relates.

Keeping your personal data secure

The security of your data is of the utmost importance to us. We have appropriate security measures to prevent personal data from being accidentally lost, used or accessed unlawfully. We limit access to your personal data to those who have a genuine business need to access it. Those processing your information will do so only in an authorised manner and are subject to a duty of confidentiality. We review these measures regularly.

We also have procedures in place to deal with any suspected data security breach. We will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected data security breach where we are legally required to do so.

How to complain

We hope that we can resolve any query or concern you may raise about our use of your information.

The General Data Protection Regulation also gives you right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, in particular in the European Union (or European Economic Area) state where you work, normally live or where any alleged infringement of data protection laws occurred. The supervisory authority in the UK is the Information Commissioner who may be contacted at <https://ico.org.uk/concerns> or telephone: 0303 123 1113.

Changes to this privacy policy

This privacy policy was published on 22nd May 2018 and last updated on 23rd May 2018.

We may change this privacy policy from time to time, when we do we will inform you by e-mail or in writing.

How to contact us

Please contact us by post, email (data@lbmw.com) or telephone if you have any questions about this privacy policy or the information we hold about you.