

Privacy Policy

We take your privacy very seriously. Please read this privacy policy carefully as it contains important information on who we are and how and why we collect, store, use and share your personal data. It also explains your rights in relation to your personal data and how to contact us or supervisory authorities in the event you have a complaint.

We collect, use and are responsible for certain personal data about you. When we do so we are subject to the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR). We are also subject to the EU General Data Protection Regulation (EU GDPR) in relation to services we offer to individuals in the European Economic Area (EEA).

We collect and use this personal data to provide legal services. If you do not provide personal data we ask for, it may delay or prevent us from providing those services.

How your personal data is collected

We collect most of this information from you, direct or via our LBMW app. However, we may also collect information:

- from publicly accessible sources, eg Companies House or HM Land Registry;
- directly from a third party, eg:
 - sanctions screening providers;

- credit reference agencies;
- client due diligence providers;
- from a third party with your consent, eg:
 - your bank or building society, another financial institution or advisor;
 - consultants and other professionals we may engage in relation to your matter;

 - your doctors, medical and occupational health professionals;
- via our website—we use cookies on our website (for more information on cookies, please see our cookie policy accessed from the homepage of www.lbmw.com)

How and why we use personal data

Under data protection law, we can only use your personal data if we have a proper reason, eg:

- where you have given consent;
- to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations;
- for the performance of a contract with you or to take steps at your request before entering into a contract; or
- for our legitimate interests or those of a third party.

A legitimate interest is when we have a business or commercial reason to use your personal data, so long as this is not overridden by your own rights and interests. We will carry out an assessment when relying on legitimate interests, to balance our interests against your own.

The table below explains what we use your personal data for and why.

What we use your personal data for	Our reasons

How and why we use your personal data—Special category personal data

Certain personal data we collect is treated as a special category to which additional protections apply under data protection law. We do not routinely collect special category data (eg. data revealing racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious beliefs, philosophical beliefs or trade union membership) about clients but may do so where it is relevant to the legal services we are instructed to provide.

Where we process special category personal data, we will also ensure we are permitted to do so under data protection laws, eg:

- we have your explicit consent;
- the processing is necessary to protect your (or someone else's) vital interests where you are physically or legally incapable of giving consent; or
- the processing is necessary to establish, exercise or defend legal claims.

How and why we use your personal data—sharing

See 'Who we share your personal data with' for more information on the steps we will take to protect your personal data where we need to share it with others.

Marketing

We will use your personal data to send you occasional updates (by email or post) about our services, including updates, information about events or new services. We may use recognised providers such as Mail Chimp.

We have a legitimate interest in using your personal data for marketing purposes (see above 'How and why we use your personal data'). This means we do not usually need your consent to send you marketing information. If we change our marketing approach in the future so that consent is needed, we will ask for this separately and clearly.

You have the right to opt out of receiving marketing communications at any time by:

- contacting us at dataprotection@lbmw.com with the subject line 'Marketing – opt-out'.
- Informing your LBMW contact that you do not wish to receive marketing information

We may ask you to confirm or update your marketing preferences if you ask us to provide further services in the future, or if there are changes in the law, regulation, or the structure of our business.

We will always treat your personal data with the utmost respect and never share it with other organisations for marketing purposes.

Who we share your personal data with

We may share personal data with:

- Third parties who are working alongside us to provide services to you (eg. accountants, tax advisers, estate agents)
- other third parties we use to help us run our business, eg marketing agencies or website hosts;
- if necessary, our bank;

We only allow those organisations to handle your personal data if we are satisfied they take appropriate measures to protect your personal data.

We or the third parties mentioned above occasionally also share personal data with:

- our external auditors, eg in relation to the audit of our accounts, in which case the recipient of the information will be bound by confidentiality obligations
- our and their professional advisors (such as lawyers and other advisors), in which case the recipient of the information will be bound by confidentiality obligations
- law enforcement agencies, courts, tribunals and regulatory bodies to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations
- other parties that have or may acquire control or ownership of our business (and our or their professional advisers) in connection with a significant corporate transaction or restructuring, including a merger, acquisition or asset sale or in the event of our insolvency—usually, information will be anonymised but this may not always be possible. The recipient of any of your personal data will be bound by confidentiality obligations

Where your personal data is held

Personal data may be held at our offices, third party agencies, service providers, representatives and agents as described above (see 'Who we share your personal data with').

Some of these third parties may be based outside the European Economic Area. For more information, including on how we safeguard your personal data when this occurs, see below: 'Transferring your personal data out of the UK and EEA'.

How long your personal data will be kept

We will not keep your personal data for longer than we need it for the purpose for which it is used.

As a general rule, if we are no longer providing services to you, we will delete or anonymise your account data after six years. However, different retention periods apply for different types of personal data and for different services. Further details on this are available here.

Following the end of the of the relevant retention period, we will delete or anonymise your personal data.

Transferring your personal data out of the UK

The EEA, and other countries outside the UK have differing data protection laws, some of which may provide lower levels of protection of privacy.

It is rare but sometimes necessary in the context of a particular transaction for us to transfer your personal data to countries outside the UK. In those cases we will comply with applicable UK and EEA

Under data protection laws, we can only transfer your personal data to a country outside the UK where:

- in the case of transfers subject to UK data protection law, the UK government has decided the particular country ensures an adequate level of protection of personal data (known as an 'adequacy regulation') further to Article 45 of the UK GDPR. A list of countries the UK currently has adequacy regulations in relation to is available online;
- there are appropriate safeguards in place, together with enforceable rights and effective legal remedies for you; or
- a specific exception applies under relevant data protection law.

Your rights

You have the following rights, which you can exercise free of charge:

Access	The right to be provided with a copy of your personal data
Rectification	The right to require us to correct any mistakes in your personal data
Erasure (also known as the right to be forgotten)	The right to require us to delete your personal data—in certain situations
Restriction of processing	The right to require us to restrict processing of your personal data—in certain situations, eg if you contest the accuracy of the data

Data portability	The right to receive the personal data you provided to us, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and/or transmit that data to a third party—in certain situations
To object	The right to object: —at any time to your personal data being processed for direct marketing (including profiling); —in certain other situations to our continued processing of your personal data, eg processing carried out for the purpose of our legitimate interests unless there are compelling legitimate grounds for the processing to continue or the processing is required for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.
Not to be subject to automated individual decision making	The right not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated processing (including profiling) that produces legal effects concerning you or similarly significantly affects you
The right to withdraw consent	If you have provided us with a consent to use your personal data you have a right to withdraw that consent easily at any time You may withdraw consents by emailing dataprotection@lbmw.com Withdrawing a consent will not affect the lawfulness of our use of your personal data in reliance on that consent before it was withdrawn

For more information on each of those rights, including the circumstances in which they apply, please contact us (see 'How to contact us' below) or see the Guidance from the UK Information Commissioner's Office \(ICO\) on individuals' rights under the General Data Protection Regulation.

If you would like to exercise any of those rights, please:

- email, call or write to us—see below: 'How to contact us'; and
- provide enough information to identify yourself (eg your full name, address and client or matter reference number) and any additional identity information we may reasonably request from you;
- let us know what right you want to exercise and the information to which your request relates.

Keeping your personal data secure

We have appropriate security measures to prevent personal data from being accidentally lost, or used or accessed unlawfully. We limit access to your personal data to those who have a genuine business need to access it. Those processing your personal data will do so only in an authorised manner and are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

We also have procedures to deal with any suspected data security breach. We will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected data security breach where we are legally required to do so.

How to complain

Please contact us if you have any queries or concerns about our use of your personal data. See our Data Protection complaints policy here. (see below 'How to contact us'). We hope we will be able to resolve any issues you may have.

You also have the right to lodge a complaint with: the Information Commissioner in the UK who may be contacted using the details at <https://ico.org.uk/make-a-complaint> or by telephone: 0303 123 1113.

Changes to this privacy policy

This privacy policy was last updated in June 2026.

We may change this privacy policy from time to time. If any such change is likely to have a material impact on you or your data we will contact you to alert you. If the change is minor and will not in our reasonable opinion impact you, we will publish any updated policy on our website.
